About me ───────

I am a curious IT developer that tries to find his way in IT world. Although my education was mostly in mathematics, during recent years, I have also tried to explore other topics. I worked in creating interactive lessons for learning programming language Python, which can be found on address http://edusoft.matf.bg.ac.rs/ePython/
Another project that I've done is billing tickets for a school where I currently work, placed on my personal website. Recently, I started learing JS framework Vue and created my website using completly Vue and Sass.
